PROGRESS REPORT FOR THE MONTH OF MAY 2009

1. IBM ROLL OUT AND PERFORMANCE

(a) EXCEL HORT CONSULT NETWORK

In the month of May, 2 IBMs that were identified last month in Mbarara were leased information Boards. One board was installed in Mbarara Central Market and the other in the old taxi park structure market at an agro input dealers shop. The IBM in Mbarara Central Market (Jenina) is quite active, sends price info three times a week and has already earned a modest commission on a deal she brokered.

The IBM in the old taxi park –the agro inputs dealer has not yet started sharing info, partly because we have not yet designed a standard format on what kind of information they should share, and the frequency of transmission.

Another IBM was trained and leased with an information board, which was installed in Ibanda town. The IBM is a trader dealing in various commodities including beans, maize, and cassava chips among others. He has shared market information a few times this month.

(b) BCI NETWORK

In a bid to grow the BCI network, an exploratory visit to Mubende was undertaken this month. A big buyer for beans and maize was identified, and also a trader who could be trained as an IBM. Next month, the potential IBM will be recruited into the network and modalities worked out to engage with the big buyer since harvests have already commenced.

2. Deal tracking/sourcing

During this month, efforts were made to source and broker a deal on honey. The RM Kampala identified and shared info on a buyer (BIOBEST) who was interested in procuring honey from Uganda. Excel Hort Consult was interested in the deal, and was requested to provide a sample which they did. The sample was approved, and the buyer provided specifications (quality, packaging) and asked for a price quotation. The quotation was sent (basing on prevailing market prices) but the buyer came back with a counter offer of 50% of the price quoted. Given that the price offered was too low, this deal was put on hold. The benefits of this effort was that Excel Hort Consult was able to establish firm contacts with the producers and now has indicative production capacities and available quantities for sale.

Oranges from Soroti to Kabale: During the training that was held for IBMs and RMs in Soroti, discussions were held with Eng Gaudensius on this deal. He reiterated the fact that 50 bags (which is the current demand in Kabale) is not an economically viable amount to transport. A suggestion was made to explore the demand from Mbarara and make a combined order. Engineer was of the view that the traders should pick the oranges from Kampala, but also suggested for a face-to-face meeting next month.

3. OTHER ACTIVITIES

Training was held for IBMs and RMs in Soroti on May $30^{th} - 31^{st}$ 2009. The purpose of the meeting was to provide support and bring the new RM to speed on IBM mentoring, deal sourcing, tracking and monitoring among others. Monthly reporting was also emphasized and sharing/learning on LLL. The new LLL guide and IBM training manual were shared, and future upcoming activities agreed upon.

4. CHALLENGES

The biggest challenge is still in sourcing deals. Since the year began, efforts to broker deals have been fruitless and at times I have had to compensate farmers who had commenced on getting the products ready for trade (e.g. the gonja deal).

Market information sharing though is getting better is still not consistent and reliable. As such, it will be difficult to sell sms bulletins when our info is still inconsistent. In addition, one very active IBM in Mityana left the network and relocated from the town.
